The battle rages on against my soul

But the lies, the voices ringing in my ears

Are subtly eroding hope with fear

You are good and all your words are true

Your faithful, what You promised you will do

Lord I believe please help my unbelief

My weary soul is desperate for relief

Speak to me

Your nearness is to me my highest good
I'd haste the day to meet You if I could
To be with You to see You face to face
In all of Your glory and grace

Until that day I'll keep my eyes on You
Though weights and sins are trying to undo
What You've begun in me You will complete
The Spirit is the One who guarantees
